We say to sufferers, take Dr. David's Blood-Purifier. It has no equal as a blood purifier. Just try it. Price, $1.00 per bottle, six bottles for $5.00, at Mase & Martin's, Roanoke, Va.

THE TIMES KODAK. Items of News Gathered About Town.

The circuit court for Roanoke county was in session for about two hours yesterday. The road appeal case that was to have been heard was continued until next term on account of the absence of witnesses.

A large number of decrees were entered among which was one in the case of J. A. Shipman & Co., et. als. versus Lucy C. Snyder. Z. Boon, trustee, et. als. which was referred to a commissioner. The object of this suit is to subject certain trust funds and trust property to the payment of the debts created by Logan C. Snyder, trustee, deceased. A number of petitions were filed in this case. Circuit court will not convene until Tuesday morning as county court meets on Monday, at which time, no doubt, its business will be speedily disposed of.

Since the Bethel case versus the Improvement Company a brick has been defined as a composition of mud, formed of six sides, which, when ranged in a kiln, costs $4,000. Everybody but the Improvement Company sees the joke.

The Planters' Saving Bank, by its attorney, Saturday morning before Judge Blair, made a motion for an increase of bond in its case against D. O. Matthews, of the furnace commissary. A levy some time ago was made upon the effects in the commissary for the debts of Adams, Matthews & Co., of the lumber yard, and D. O. Matthews gave a bond on the amount of stock for $600, which is claimed to be insufficient, and the matter will come up for a hearing Tuesday.

Postmaster W. Lee Brand is suffering considerably with one of the afflictions of Job — boils.

Daniel Preston hauled, in six two-horse loads, the new steel cage from the depot yesterday to the jail.

The cold weather seems to have cooled off the ardor of the lovers, for there has not been a single marriage license issued from the county clerk's office since the 11th instant.

There will be the usual services at all the churches to-day.

At the regular Y. M. C. A. meeting this afternoon the subject, "Christ in the Home, in Society and State," will be discussed by Messrs. Montgomery, Thomas and Stanard. The music will be led by the male quartette.

Only one piece of the boiler at Roanoke College was injured by the students' pranks last Wednesday night, and it will be repaired in a day or two. In the meantime stoves are being used to heat the dormitories and lecture-rooms, and study is progressing as usual.

In reply to a question from THE TIMES reporter yesterday as to whether there was any real suffering in Salem at this time, Mayor Younger said: "It gives me pleasure to state that there is no more suffering here this winter than usual, and the superintendent of the poor has only been called upon to relieve a few deserving cases. People in Salem are neither very rich nor very poor; the factories are all at work, now giving the usual employment to the breadwinners, who are mostly pretty good providers. Even among the colored people, many of whom own their homes, I have heard of very little suffering. I do not think there will be any difficulty in keeping the wolf from the door of every citizen in Salem this winter, and I am glad that it is so."

The reporter then asked a similar question of Sergeant Frier, who is overseer of the poor for Salem district. He replied: "I am really surprised that there is as little want in the district as there is. Last year I had three times as many applications for assistance as I have had this year, and I think we shall get through the winter with very little expense to the county for help."

Cold Weather Interferes With the Work. The cold weather has interfered to a great extent with the general managers of the Roanoke Machine Works—that is, in collecting the necessary material to begin work on the large order placed in their hands by the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company. The appliances, though, are being assembled slowly, and as soon as the necessary lumber can be procured work will begin at once.

They are offering to organize the city for him or to do anything else to promote his candidacy. Some of his most enthusiastic workers are men who a year ago swore they would support any man in preference to O'Ferrall. There is a great rush to be first in the band wagon.
